

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a method for attaching advertising media to bottles. In a first step, caps (1) or sealing parts for bottles are continuously transported into predetermined designated positions. The labels (13) that 5 constitute the advertising media are subsequently attached to the caps (1) or sealing parts. The caps (1) or sealing parts with their attached labels (13) are then sterilised.